

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

CRIMINAL TABLES FOR THE YEAR 1852.

The following Explanations and Calculations, with reference to the accompanying Tables, have been made by Mr. Redgrave, of the Home Office, who compiled and prepared the Tables.

State of the Commitments.

THE Commitments for Trial in 1852 are a trifling decrease on the numbers in the preceding year, but are substantially the same as in the three last years, and do not exceed the amount which was suddenly attained in 1840. They are another year's evidence of the present stationary character of the Commitments, and are below the average of the last ten years. Of the actual numbers committed in the last fifteen years, which are given below, it will be seen that the Commitments in 1852 were less than the numbers in seven years of that period.

1838	23,094	1843	29,591	1848	30,349
1839	24,443	1844	26,542	1849	27,816
1840	27,187	1845	24,303	1850	26,813
1841	27,760	1846	25,107	1851	27,960
1842	31,309	1847	28,833	1852	27,510
	133,793		134,376		140,448

Decrease in 1852.

The decrease of last year is 450 Commitments, or 1·6 per cent. It has extended to twenty English counties, half manufacturing and commercial, and half agricultural, but it has not been particularly marked in any one of them. The same may be said of the small increase which is spread over the remaining twenty counties. Of the twelve Welsh counties, in seven there was a decrease of the Commitments; in four an increase; in one the numbers remain the same. In Glamorganshire the increase has been large, and the Commitments have doubled in the last five years.

Decrease or Increase of particular offences.

On a comparison of the two last years, with respect to the description of offences committed, the following are pointed out as those in which the decrease or increase was most prominent.

In the 1st Class—The Offences against the Person—the totals continue nearly the same. There is an increase in murder and the attempts to murder; and also, amounting to 65 per cent., for concealing the births of infants, an offence often closely allied to murder; but a considerable decrease in the Commitments for stabbing, wounding, &c., and manslaughter. In rape there is a decrease; in the assaults with intent to ravish an increase. For the new offence of assault and inflicting bodily harm, under the Stat. 14 & 15 Vict. c. 19., there have been no less than 321 Commitments. It seems most probable that many offences of this description, heretofore indicted as felonious, have been indicted under this statute, more especially as they are thereby brought within the jurisdiction of the quarter sessions; and to this cause may probably be attributed in some degree the decrease of the Commitments already referred to for stabbing, wounding, &c.

In the 2d Class—Offences against Property with Violence—there is a decrease of 4·1 per cent., arising chiefly on burglary and housebreaking, which decreased 13·7 per cent., while, on the other hand, robbery increased in nearly the same ratio, 13·5 per cent.

In the 3d Class—Offences against Property without Violence—the Commitments have decreased, 2·7 per cent. Cattle, horse, and sheep stealing have each decreased, as have also larcenies from the person; while larcenies by servants, and frauds, have increased.

In the 4th Class—The Malicious Offences against Property—there is a decrease of 11·1 per cent., which extends over all the offences of the class.

In the 5th Class—Forgery and Offences against the Currency—there is an increase of 11·2 per cent., which arises exclusively on uttering counterfeit coin, an offence which has shown a constant increase of the Commitments for the last seven years. The numbers for forgery remain nearly the same in the two last years.

In the 6th Class—comprising all the Offences not properly falling within the previous classes—there has been an increase of 22·9 per cent., arising upon riot and breach of the peace, and perjury; the Commitments for the latter offence having nearly trebled since the operation of the Stat. 14 & 15 Vict., which renders parties to suits liable to give evidence. The offences against the game laws, included in this class, decreased 15 per cent.

Decrease of offences peculiar to agricultural districts.

Upon a general comparison of the last year's Commitments with those of the preceding year, it will be seen that several of those offences which prevail more particularly in the agricultural and country districts have decreased; as, for instance, arson and maliciously killing cattle, offences against the game laws, cattle, horse, and sheep stealing, housebreaking, and burglary.

Offences in the last 15 years.

Increase of those against the person.

The Commitments under the different classes during the last fifteen years, which are given below, prove the stationary character of the offences against the person; the increase of the Commitments during that period arising solely on the offences against property; both those with violence forming the 2d class, and those without violence forming the 3d class, the increase of the former in the last five years being 14·4 per cent. The increase of forgery and offences against the currency in the same five years has also been very great, chiefly in the uttering counterfeit coin, and amounts to 45 per cent.

Result of the proceedings in 1852.

The nature and result of the proceedings upon the Commitments of the last year will be briefly shown by the following figures: —

Not Guilty on Trial	4,687

Proportion acquitted.

The proportion acquitted and discharged had for the previous six years shown a small but gradual decrease, which has continued in the last year. This proportion has been: — 1852, 22·4 per cent.; 1851, 22·7 per cent.; 1850, 23·2 per cent.; 1849, 24·4 per cent.; 1848, 24·4 per cent.; 1847, 25·1 per cent.; 1846, 27·6 per cent. The proportion in 1852 is made up of 17·0 per cent. found not guilty on trial, 5·0 per cent. no bills found, 0·4 per cent. not prosecuted; the decrease in the last year being in those discharged by reason of no bills being found.

Sentences in the last ten years.

The above secondary punishments are given in the Table below with more detail, and are compared with the sentences in the nine previous years.

Decrease of the numbers sentenced to Transportation.

The secondary punishments last year are remarkable for the diminished numbers sentenced to transportation, and the decrease of two thirds in those sentenced to transportation for life; a sudden falling off which is not by any means accounted for by a corresponding decrease of those violent offences for which this extreme secondary punishment is usually inflicted. The repeal of the punishment of transportation on a first conviction for simple larceny by the Stat. 12 Vict. c. 11. will to some extent explain the diminished numbers sentenced to transportation; but the more lenient administration of the law, as will be shown, and in the last four years the decrease of the Commitments, have had an equal share in the result.

In the last four years, during which the Commitments have varied little in their total amount, the numbers sentenced to transportation have been: — In 1852, 2,535; in 1851, 2,800; in 1850, 2,578; in 1849, 2,884; and the proportion which those numbers bore to the convictions in those years respectively were 1 in 8·4; 1 in 7·7; 1 in 7·9; 1 in 7·4; and 1 in 7·0.

Results of the repeal of Transportation for Larceny.

The effect of the Stat. 12 Vict. c. 11. will be shown by taking separately the convictions for simple larceny, and comparing the numbers and proportion of those sentenced to transportation for that offence in the three last years and the three years preceding the repeal of the punishment, allowance of course being made for the variation in the numbers convicted.

The proportion for the total of the three years preceding the repeal being 1 in 9·7; for the three succeeding years 1 in 13·4.

Females sentenced to Transportation in 1852.

It is frequently of importance, particularly in questions relating to the disposal of transports, to know the number of females sentenced to that punishment; a separate calculation has therefore been made of the females (extracted from the foregoing numbers), with the sentences passed upon them, and their offences: —

Number capitally convicted, 1843-52.

Seven offences alone, which remain capital, now find a separate head in the Tables, and the convictions are virtually confined to six, there having been no capital conviction for the seventh (High Treason) in the last ten years. These offences, with the number of persons convicted of each in the last year, with the comparative numbers in each of the last ten years, were as follows: —

Executions in 1852.

Of the above 61 capital convictions in 1852 the judgment of death was recorded upon 42, so that the sentence to be hanged was passed upon 19 only, and of this number nine were executed, seven males and two females. These offences were in each case murder, for which alone, since 1841, with one exception, execution has taken place. Of the seven males one was executed for the murder of his wife, who was on the point of leaving him from his repeated ill-usage of her; one for the murder of his own illegitimate child; one for the murder of the illegitimate child of his wife, before her marriage with him; one for the murder of the illegitimate child of a woman with whom he cohabited; one for the murder, from revengeful feelings, of a respectable female who had dismissed him from some occasional employ; one, a foreigner, for the murder and robbery of his uncle on the highway; and one for murder and robbery on the highway. Of the two females, one was executed for the murder of her mother-in-law, to obtain the reversion of a small property; one for the murder of her husband by poison.

Counties in which Executions took place, 1843-52.

The succeeding Table shows the counties in which the above executions took place, and the executions of the previous nine years.

Number and increase of females committed.

The males and females, separately, are shown this year in a new form (Table p. 57), so as to distinguish the numbers, and to afford the means of comparison of the Commitments, in each county for the last ten years. The numbers in 1852 still prove a continuance of the proportional increase of females which has been uninterrupted since 1848.

1843 . .	22·0 to 100 males.	1848 . .	23·4 to 100 males.
1844 . .	23·1 „	1849 . .	24·1 „
1845 . .	25·6 „	1850 . .	24·4 „
1846 . .	26·5 „	1851 . .	24·8 „
1847 . .	25·9 „	1852 . .	25·7 „

Proportion of females in different Counties.

The above figures show the mean rate of increase or decrease in the proportion which the females bear to the males, but the results, which assume great regularity when the totals alone are compared, are widely different when examined with regard to separate counties. Selecting those which are most important from their population and extent, and comparing the total of the five years 1843—1847, with the total of the last five years 1848–52, it appears that :—

In Middlesex the decrease of males was 12·1 per cent.; of females 7·9 per cent.

In Lancashire the increase of males was 5·3 per cent.; of females no less than 14·7 per cent.

In Yorkshire, comprising at the same time a large share of manufacturing and agricultural population, the increase of males was 16·5 per cent.; of females 14·5 per cent.

In Cheshire the males increased 19·2 per cent.; the females 20·8 per cent.

In Staffordshire the males increased 16·6 per cent.; the females decreased 1·0 per cent.

In Derbyshire the males increased 2·5 per cent.; the females decreased 16·2 per cent.

In Nottinghamshire the males increased 13·5 per cent.; the females decreased 29·6 per cent.

In Leicestershire the males decreased 23·8 per cent.; the females 14·7 per cent.

In Warwickshire the males increased 6·8 per cent.; the females 1·5 per cent.

Contrasting these counties, which are chiefly manufacturing and commercial, with some of the more purely agricultural, it is shown that:—

In Lincolnshire the males increased 10·4 per cent.; the females 1·3 per cent. only.

In Essex the males increased 5·7 per cent; the females decreased 26·1 per cent.

In Suffolk the males increased 7·2 per cent.; the females decreased 4·4 per cent.

In Wilts the males decreased 3·6 per cent.; the females 11·8 per cent.

These results are remarkable. The great proportionate increase of females in Lancashire, Yorkshire, and Cheshire, where females, employed in the great staple manufactures of those counties, are congregated in large numbers, contrasts strongly with the proportion in the adjoining counties of Derby, Nottingham, and Leicester, also the seats of the smaller textile manufactures requiring female labour, but in which counties the female Commitments have greatly decreased, and the male Commitments increased.

Jurisdiction of the Quarter Sessions.

The jurisdiction of courts of quarter sessions was defined in 1842 by Stat. 5 & 6 Vict. c. 37., and the justices of county and borough sessions empowered to try, with some exceptions defined in the statute, all felonies and misdemeanors not capital, or on a first conviction liable to transportation for life. An assistant judge is appointed to preside at the Middlesex County Sessions under the Stat. 7 & 8 Vict. c. 71., and by Stat. 14 & 15 Vict. c. 55. the exclusive jurisdiction over certain offences which was given to the Central Criminal Court on its creation in 1834 was repealed, and the assistant judge has now the same jurisdiction in the trial of offences as the chairman of any other court of quarter sessions.

Courts before which the offenders were tried, 1852.

The offenders committed for trial in 1852 were tried or discharged by the following Courts, and at the following Sessions :—

County Quarter Sessions Courts :
Epiphany Sessions and Adjournments	4,520
Easter Sessions and Adjournments	2,304
Midsummer Sessions and Adjournments	3,440
Michaelmas Sessions and Adjournments	3,527
		13,791
Middlesex County Sessions of the Peace :
January, February, and March Sessions	772
April, May, and June Sessions	633
July, August, and September Sessions	581
October, November, and December Sessions	624
		2,610
Borough Quarter Sessions Courts :
January to March	1,419
April to June	1,000
July to September	1,333
October to December	1,378
		5,130

Circuit Assize Courts:
Lent Assizes	2,664
Summer Assizes	1,694
Winter Assize (Yorkshire and Lancashire)	247
		4,605
Central Criminal Court:
January, February, and March Sessions	252
April, May, and June Sessions	442
July, August, and September Sessions	368
October, November, and December Sessions	312
		1,374
		27,510

Of the above Commitments to the Central Criminal Court, 623 were from the county of Middlesex, 378 from the city of London, 207 from the county of Surrey, 118 from the county of Kent, and 48 from the county of Essex.

The proportion tried at each of the above courts last year was:—county sessions, including Middlesex, 59·62 per cent.; borough sessions, 18·64 per cent.; assize courts, 16·74 per cent.; Central Criminal Court, 4·99 per cent. On the last similar calculation which was made on the Commitments of the year 1839, the proportions were:—county sessions, 53·8; borough sessions, 17·4; assize courts, 14·6; Central Criminal Court, 14·2.

The difference in the proportion between these two periods will be in great part accounted for by the changes in the law, already described, affecting the jurisdiction of the courts of quarter sessions.

Considered as to their character, in Class No. 1, "the Offences against the person with violence," the criminal records show an increase under the head of "Murder" of 5, as compared with the preceding year, or 4·42 per cent. while of the 118 committed for that crime in 1851, 101 were acquitted on trial.

The committals for "Shooting at, stabbing, &c.," have also increased from 62 to 87, or 40·32 per cent.; while for "Manslaughter" they have diminished from 150 to 135, or 10 per cent.; on the other hand, the committals for "Rape" have increased from 53 to 57, or 7·55 per cent.; but the decrease in "Assaults" is 1,267, or 35·93 per cent.

In Class No. 3, the decrease has arisen chiefly in "Cattle-stealing," under the several heads of that crime, and "Larceny;" the committals for the former being 589, or 30·48 per cent., and for the latter, 2,390, or 18·62 per cent. less than those of the preceding year. "Larceny to the value of £5," "Stealing from vessels in port," and "Frauds," exhibit a decrease respectively of 25, 5, 16, or 11·11, 71·42, and 12·21 per cent.; while in "Larceny from the person" there is an increase of 179, or 39·34 per cent. over 1850.

In Class No. 4, "Malicious offences against property," there is an increase under the head of "Arson," of 5, or 3·23 per cent.; and in "Killing or maiming cattle," there is a decrease of 3, or 6·38 per cent.

Class No. 5, "Offences against the currency," shows a decrease of 6, or 2·4 per cent. under those in 1850.

In Class No. 6, the decrease is principally under the heads of "Riot" and "Rescue," the former being 1,124, or 38·09 per cent., and the latter, 1,162, or 37·76 per cent. less than in 1850. In "Administering and taking unlawful oaths," there is a decrease of 4, or 66·66 per cent.; and in "Perjury, or subornation of perjury," there is a decrease of 5, or 10·64 per cent. In "Prison breaking," there is an increase of 6, or 40 per cent.; and in "Felonies," of 25, or 14·54 per cent. over those of 1850; but in "Vagrancy" and "Misdemeanors" there is a decrease respectively of 38 and 268, or 25· and 33·83 per cent. under 1850.

The following Table shows the comparative increase or decrease of offences in the following provinces, in the years 1850 and 1851:—

Of the 17 capital sentences passed in 1851, two were executed, and 14 commuted to transportation, and one to imprisonment. On comparing the number of committals for offences with the number convicted for such offences, it appears that of the 24,684 committed, 14,377 were convicted, being 58·24 per cent., and 10,307 acquitted or discharged, being about 41·76 per cent. The convictions during the last seven years have rarely exceeded an average of 45 per cent. Last year the number of acquittals decreased, and a greater improvement in the number of convictions occurs this year.

The following TABLES for SCOTLAND have, by directions from the HOME OFFICE, been substituted for the Form specified in the Statute 1 GUL. IV. c. 37. with the view of more nearly assimilating them to the Criminal Tables now in use to be presented to Parliament for England. In consequence of the different systems of Criminal Procedure in the two Countries, a complete assimilation was impracticable; but to assist in bringing the assimilation more close for comparative investigation, a comparative Table of the respective Classifications of Offences is here annexed.

(So far as relates to Ireland and Scotland.)

IRELAND.

Office of Inspector-General of Prisons, Dublin Castle,
Sir, 12 October 1853.

IN compliance with your Minute of the 12th ultimo upon the accompanying letter, addressed to you at the instance of the Secretary of State, we have the honour to submit the information required therein.

1. The appointment and payment of the Roman-catholic chaplains in all the gaols of Ireland, as well as the allocation of their spiritual duties, are regulated by the 7th Geo. 4, c. 74; and it will be seen that they are placed on exactly the same footing as the chaplains of the other denominations specified in the sections 68, 69, and 70, which we annex:

LXVIII. And be it further enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for each and every grand jury in Ireland, and they are hereby required at any assizes or presenting term, to appoint a proper and discreet person, being duly ordained in holy orders and of the Established Church, to be chaplain of the several gaols of and in their respective counties, counties of cities, and counties of towns; and it shall and may be lawful for every such grand jury, if they shall be so required by the court, also to appoint a proper and discreet person, being a Protestant dissenting minister, to be Protestant dissenting chaplain thereof; and also, if they shall be so required by the court, to appoint a priest or clergyman of the Roman-catholic Church, to be Roman-catholic chaplain thereof: Provided always, that every person so appointed shall be approved of by the court, and that where there is only one gaol of such county, county of a city, or county of a town, in the appointment of such chaplain, preference shall be given to some clergyman of the Established Church officiating within the parish in which the gaol shall be situated, if duly qualified; and in like manner to some Protestant dissenting minister, and some clergyman of the Roman-catholic Church, if duly qualified, acting as such within the said parish.

LXIX. And be it further enacted, that every such chaplain shall read prayers in the said gaol for which he shall be appointed on every Sunday in the year; to wit, the Protestant chaplain of the Established Church to such of the prisoners as shall be Protestants of the Established Church, and the Protestant dissenting minister to such of the prisoners who shall be Protestant Dissenters, and the Roman-catholic chaplain to such of the prisoners as shall be Roman-catholics; and that every such chaplain shall likewise visit each of the said prisons twice at least in every week, exclusive of his attendance on Sunday; that on such visits he shall go into every room and cell in the prison wherein any prisoner so within his charge shall be confined, and converse with and exhort such of the said prisoners respectively as are willing to listen to his admonitions; and that each of the said chaplains shall attend every malefactor in their respective prisons who shall be within his charge as aforesaid, or who may desire his assistance, previous to and down to the time of his execution, in order to administer to such prisoner or prisoners the functions of his holy office; and that every such chaplain shall by alternate weeks, on the days appointed for the delivery of provisions or serving the same to the prisoners, inspect in his turn the bread or other provisions provided for any prisoner of whatsoever religion, and take care that the same are of good and wholesome quality, and of sufficient weight; and every such chaplain shall keep a journal in which he shall enter the time of his attendance on the performance of his duty, with any observations which may occur to him in the execution thereof, to be produced when required to the Board of Superintendence.

LXX. And be it further enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the grand jury, at the spring assizes and Easter term in every year after such appointment, to present a reasonable sum, not exceeding the sum of one hundred pounds and not being less than fifty pounds in the county and county of the city of Dublin, and not exceeding fifty pounds nor being less than thirty pounds within any other county or county of a city or county of a town in Ireland, for every such chaplain, as a recompense for his services aforesaid; provided it shall fully appear to said grand juries respectively, and to the court or judge, that such chaplains duly and regularly executed the several duties of their said offices respectively; and that the sums presented for all the chaplains aforesaid in one prison or district shall be of the same amount, unless the share, or any part of the share of either, shall at any time be withheld by reason of any misconduct or neglect of duty.

2. There exist besides, in the greater number of gaols in this country, bye laws, which relate to the chaplains among other officers. These bye laws, which derive their force from the sanction of the Court of Queen's-Bench, a sanction accorded only when they are "not inconsistent with the regulations of this Act" (s. 4, of the 7th Geo. 4, c. 74), do not of course limit or control the statutable powers conferred by the sections recited above, but on the contrary, are framed so as to extend, and to give them further effect; such as, for instance, to enable chaplains of the several communions equally and uniformly to delegate the performance of their duties in the event of illness, or necessary absence, to their respective curates or substitutes, when the names of the latter have been submitted to, and approved by the Board of Superintendence, a body which corresponds with that of the visiting justices in England, but is practically of a more permanent character, and of a less variable composition.

In some gaols also, the chaplains are required to attend the schools from time to time, and to examine the prisoners, on whose discharge they are bound to certify whether their proficiency corresponds with the record of the registry of progress.

3. We have further to submit a return of the number of prisoners now confined in the several Irish gaols (distinguishing Catholics, members of the Church of England, and Protestant Dissenters), and also of the chaplains of each denomination, together with their respective salaries.

It will be perceived that in some prisons the office of Presbyterian Chaplain remains vacant; the appointment of such having been omitted in consequence of the non-committal, or the rare committal of prisoners of that persuasion in these localities.

In all cases, however, where a Protestant Dissenter is confined in a gaol, to which no chaplain of the same creed has been nominated, every facility is given by the Board of Superintendence, upon the requisition of the prisoner, to the admission of any recognised minister for the purpose of discharging his spiritual functions, with the understanding that he shall conform to the laws to which the regular chaplains are subject.

We have, &c.

J. Corry Connellan,
Inspectors-General of Prisons.

Sir,

IRELAND.

CRIMINAL TABLES FOR THE YEAR 1852.

Explanations and Calculations with reference to the accompanying Tables.

The following Tables, showing the number of persons committed or bailed for offences in the several counties, and counties of cities or towns, in Ireland, in the year 1852, and the result of the proceedings, are compiled from Returns made to the Local Inspectors of the Gaols by the Clerks of the Crown and Peace, pursuant to 7th George IV., chapter 74, and compared with the records of the gaols, from which the ages, sexes, and state of instruction of the persons committed are added. At the foot of each are the number of prisoners committed during the year on summary convictions, or whose cases were disposed of by magistrates, and also the number committed for drunkenness. Of these a general summary is given in page 7, but they are not included in any of the following calculations.

In the seven Tables, from page 90 to page 99, the information contained in the Returns from the Gaols is abstracted, so as to show the general results, and compared with the results of similar returns for the preceding six years.

The total number of persons charged with offences in the year 1852, is 7,006 less than in 1851, being a decrease of 28·38 per cent. This diminution extends to every county, with the exception of Down and Tyrone, in each of which there is a slight increase.

The Returns being divided into six classes, the following Table shows the decrease per cent. of the number of committals in 1852 as compared with 1851 in each of these classes:—

Classes.	1852.	1851.	Decrease of Committals Per Cent.
1. Offences against the person with violence, .	2,654	2,930	9·42
2. Offences against property with violence, .	1,620	2,215	26·86
3. Offences against property without violence,	9,751	14,029	30·49
4. Malicious offences against property, .	313	361	13·30
5. Forgeries and offences against currency, .	236	244	3·28
6. Offences not included in the above classes, .	3·104	4·905	36·72
Total, . . .	17,678	24,684	28·38

Class 1. Offences against the person with violence. Subdividing this class, the records show a decrease under the head "Murder" of 49, as compared with 1851, or 41·5 per cent.; but an increase in the "Attempts to murder" of 25, or nearly 200 per cent.: the numbers being respectively 14 in 1851, and 39 in 1852. "Shooting at," &c., has declined from 87 in 1851 to 18 in 1852, being equal to a reduction of 79·3 per cent. "Manslaughter" has also declined from 135 in 1851 to 127 in 1852.

"Rape" shows a diminution of 13 under 1851, being nearly 23 per cent. reduction; whilst "Assaults with intent to ravish" have increased from 28 in 1851 to 40 in 1852, equal to 42·9 per cent.

"Assaults" have also declined in 1852, the numbers charged in 1851 having been 2,259, against 2,081 in 1852, showing a decrease of 7·88 per cent.

Class 2. Offences against property committed with violence. The records show a considerable reduction under nearly every crime in this class, as compared with the Returns for 1851.

Digitized by Google

Class 3. Offences against property committed without violence. In this class the only crimes which do not show a reduction, as compared with 1851, are "Larceny from the person," which has increased from 634 to 733, equal to 15·6 per cent.; "Stealing from vessels in port or river," increased from 2 in 1851 to 8 in 1852; "Stealing fixtures," &c., 11 having been so charged in 1852, and 3 in 1851; and "Stealing letters from Post Office," 5 persons having been committed for that offence in 1852, and only 1 in 1851.

Class 4. Malicious offences against property. "Arson" (capital) has declined from 160 in 1851 to 105 in 1852, or 34·4 per cent.; whilst "Setting fire to crops" has increased from 43 in 1851 to 78 in 1852; and "Attempts to commit arson," from 10 in 1851, to 15 in 1852.

Class 5. Forgery and offences against the currency. The records show a slight reduction in the number of offenders in this class, as compared with 1851, whilst in many of the crimes embraced therein there is an increase.

Class 6. Offences not included in the above classes. The only crime in this class which shows a marked increase over 1851, is "Administering and taking unlawful oaths, for which crime 17 persons were committed in 1852 against 2 in 1851. All the other crimes in this class show a reduction, as compared with 1851, save "Perjury," which has increased from 42 in 1851 to 45 in 1852; and "Misdemeanours not included" increased from 524 in 1851 to 546 in 1852.

The following Table shows the number of committals for the several crimes mentioned therein, for the years 1848, 1849, 1850, 1851, and 1852:—

On a comparison of the number of committals with the number of convictions, it appears that out of 17,678 committed or bailed in 1852, 10,454 were convicted, equal to 59·14 per cent., and 7,224 acquitted or discharged, being about 40·86 per cent. In 1851, the convictions averaged 58·24 per cent. on the committals.

From this Table it is seen that for the last seven years there is a considerable improvement in the proportion of convictions to committals.

The following Table shows a decrease of male offenders in every class of crime, save in Class 5, in which there is a slight increase; but there is a decrease of females in every class as compared with the year 1851.
